(12) Strictly speaking, the Senior Engineer's view is correct. The Lock-up allowance is a conveyance allowance and should be drawn by the officer on duty. The permanent incumbent can draw it during P & L only if there is no ex officio work to be done. He should have placed his conveyance at the disposal of the officer doing duty officiating in accordance with the arrangement contemplated in art 679 C.S.R.

(13) The officer placed in charge is not however entitled to the duty and other allowances attached to the D.M.O. charge, except under
